

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a sensor and assembly comprised in a housing for a hand-held and hand-operated printing device controlled by a processor, and a method therefor. It provides that the assembly comprises an arrangement and a method for preventing skew and cutting of printed images.